Dear Western Community College Administration,

I hope this letter finds you well. I am writing to request a refund of the initial part payment I made towards my enrollment at [School Name]. After careful consideration and review of the new visa application requirements for students, I regret to inform you that I have decided to withdraw my application for enrollment.

As per the updated visa application requirements, one of the necessary documents for obtaining a visa to study in Canada is an attestation letter from the province where the school is located. Unfortunately, it has come to my attention that the province where [School Name] is situated does not issue such attestation letters. Without this crucial document, I am unable to proceed with my visa application and ultimately cannot fulfill my intention of studying at your institution.

Due to this unforeseen circumstance, I kindly request a full refund of the initial part payment I submitted upon application. I understand that there may be administrative processes involved, and I am willing to provide any additional information or documentation necessary to facilitate this refund process promptly.

I want to express my sincere appreciation for the assistance and support I have received from [School Name] throughout the application process. While it is regrettable that I am unable to pursue my studies at your esteemed institution at this time, I am hopeful that circumstances may change in the future, allowing for the possibility of reapplication.

Thank you for your attention to this matter. I look forward to your prompt response regarding the refund process.

Sincerely,

Elijah Iyanuoluwa Agboola
